   d. Minimum 3 years working experience in related fields
   e. Familiar with the command line/shell of a Linux Operating System
   f. Able to code in JavaScript/NodeJS, Phyton

3. What is unique about this programme?

The funding for this programme is based on a 80:20 ratio whereby Yayasan Peneraju will fund 80% of the cost of the programme upon scholars passing all certifications and scholars are required to pay the remaining 20% of the cost of the programme*. All payment will be made to the training provider appointed under this programme. Scholars are eligible for 10% reimbursement of what they have paid if they pass all the certifications within stipulated timeline.

The reason for this unique funding structure is to encourage scholars to complete and pass all certifications under the programme within the time given as per the Letter of Offer and Scholar Agreement. This is also one of Yayasan Peneraju's initiatives in creating awareness among Bumiputera workforce on the importance of financial management and life long learning. By paying 20% of the cost of the programme on their own, scholars will be aware on the need to put aside some funds should they want to further enhanced their career by pursuing advance certifications in the future.
